MEMORANDUM FOR THE RECORD

SUBJECT: Conversation with Secretary of Defense, 10 June 1980

25X1	Quite pin down what the Secretary wanted. He was basically supportive and enthusiastic about getting all we could from the refugees but seemed to want to know more specifically what type and number of people we needed from DoD. In the long run, he suggested that we could work this out with DIA. Sorry.	25X1D
25X1B 25X1D 25X1	2. We talked about the budget at some length. I indicated that we agreed on that he and I were the two who read most on that we agreed on but that he put right after We went through the discussion. He did agree that the were separate from the restoration of the delivery schedule and should be looked at carefully and separately. We agreed that it was a somewhat academic issue at this point since it is not an issue before the authorization conference. We agreed that it should not be our position to urge a breaking of the President's budget request; but it is clearly the DoD position that if, in the appropriation process, the	25X1D 25X1D 25X1D

He recognized the sensitive charts of comparative tank and aircraft capabilities. On the most controversial chart in the strategic section on the number of warheads the Soviets might procure by 1989, it was suggested we needed to take another look at the question of warhead productive capability. He did not doubt that they could find the fissionable material if they needed it. He wondered, however, if they didn't start now whether they could generate a big enough industrial effort to produce such large numbers of warheads by 1989.
•	10. He did not raise the eitherissue, and I did not
1	11. We talked about Graham Claytor's statement in his forthcoming testimony before the HPSCI on the rescue operation.
č	12. I delivered Rae Huffstutler's memo on Soviet use of military forces as a pressure tactic.
	13. I didn't discuss the U.S. Leave it in.
	14. I didn't discuss the Cuban issue. Leave it in.
	15. I didn't discuss COMSEC equipments. I think we can drop that until it comes to the fore again.
	16. I didn't raise the Defense Reconnaissance Support Program. I will wait for discussions with Hermann and Zeke.
